DECISION LAST NIGHT

Neither Bartlett Nor His Managers
Would Make a Statement, But Said
There Was a Possibility of One
Being Issued Monday.

Boston, Oct. 19.—Repeated efforts to obtain a statement from Charles W. Bartlett or his managers since the decision of the ballot law commission against Bartlett was announced, have thus far failed. It was said at the Bartlett headquarters that campaign manager O'Connell had gone out of town until Monday, and would have nothing to say until then, and maybe nothing then. The decision of the ballot law commission, which came out last night, ended a fight which had been the most critical and complex in the history of the commonwealth since the days of General Butler. The convention held at Springfield, for riot and disorder, hardly has a parallel in the history of the state. While the Bartlett forces maintained the apparent control of the convention and selected its ticket throughout, the Whitney forces withdrew to the rear of the convention hall, and following the forms of a convention session, proceeded to nominate a second ticket, headed by Mr. Whitney. To the Massachusetts ballot law commission fell the decision of determining which ticket should go upon the ballot as the Democratic ticket. Hearings were opened Friday morning, October 11, for the presentation of evidence from both sides. The commission sitting was composed of Francis W. Estey of Boston, Henry V. Cunningham of Boston, and Sewall C. Brackett of Boston, and a large number of witnesses were heard. With the announcement of the decision of the commission last night there was a rumor that the Bartlett forces might attempt to bring a writ of habeas corpus against the placing of the Whitney ticket in the Democratic column on the state ballot, the lower under the commission's ruling having a right of appeal to the Supreme court for an injunction restraining Secretary of State Olin from placing the ticket upon the ballot.

Gratified, Of Course, Is Whitney.
Mr. Whitney issued the following statement: "Of course I am gratified with the decision of the ballot law commission. It not only vindicates the course of the delegates who supported me, but also preserves the party organization. While I made by campaign upon economic issues, which commanded the support of a majority of the delegates, and which I am confident will also command the support of a majority of the voters of the commonwealth, all citizens, regardless of party affiliations, will approve the decision, because it established the supremacy of law and order in political contests. The case before the commission was given most thorough presentation by the able counsel and the most patient and conscientious consideration by the tribunal. I desire upon my own behalf and that of all the party, to thank in this public way all who participated in securing justice for the Democratic party of Massachusetts, and I am confident that those who opposed me will cheerfully abide by the decision and give their heartiest support to me in the coming campaign."

"The Democratic Ticket."
The Democratic state ticket, as it now stands approved by the commission, is as follows: For governor, Henry M. Whitney of Brookline; lieutenant-governor, George A. Schofield of Ipswich; secretary of state, Odlin Z. E. Chase of Hallowell; treasurer and receiver-general, Daniel S. Doherty of Westfield; auditor, Joseph A. Conroy of Boston. The Bartlett anti-merger ticket is as follows: For governor, Charles W. Bartlett of Newton; lieutenant-governor, James F. Conroy of Lowell; secretary of state, Thomas T. Riley of Middlebury; treasurer and receiver-general, William P. Conroy of Lynn; auditor-general, Daniel L. Shea of Chicago.

A Continuation of The Hip Sing
Tong Assassination Society.

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—The warring factions of Chinese in this city, who have periodically resorted to violence in their disputes, engaged in a fierce combat in Chinatown yesterday, which resulted in the death of Lee Dick and Lee Tung and the probable fatal shooting of Leoy Tong. The authorities say the killing was the result of a premeditated plan made by members of the Hip Sing Tong society to assassinate witnesses who were to have testified yesterday in the trial of two Hip Sing Tong members charged with the murder of Leoy Tong on July 7 last. Long Yung was a member of the On Leong Tong society, and was shot down and killed after he had given testimony against Hip Sing Tong men in another murder trial.

Bradley on Charge of Aiding in Kidnapping Child.

New York, Oct. 19.—Declaring that she would rather die than disgrace her parents, Miss Mae Bradley, who was arrested on the charge of aiding Mrs. Maud Clark to kidnap her son, Carlton, aged five, from Dr. G. Kremer of Lexington avenue, refused to answer questions put to her in police court yesterday by Assistant District Attorney Krotel concerning them. Finally, when pressed for an answer she fainted. The case was then adjourned until Monday. During an unguarded moment, between her sobbing, Miss Bradley said that her parents are prominent and wealthy. Dr. Kremer testified that the boy, Carlton, had been turned over to him by the boy's father and later was legally adopted. According to the testimony of Miss Malvina Kremer, the physician's sister, she had gone with the boy for a walk, when Mrs. Clark appeared, took the child and running to a cab drove rapidly away. Miss Kremer said that Miss Bradley caught her arm and held her, saying she was a detective. Miss Bradley, she said also struck her in the face. Mrs. Clark took the boy to Boston, but has not been arrested.

The latter reported to the board October 7 that in his opinion Mr. Clapp was entitled to compensation for his services from May 1, 1905, to June 3 of the same year, when he was removed from office. The matter was then referred to the board of finance, which has not yet reported.

Heinz Reported to Be Ready to Sell
His New York Holdings to Start
All Over Again in Montana.

New York, Oct. 19.—Back to the mines. This is asserted today, is the plan of F. Augustus Heinz, late copper king, to rehabilitate himself and carry out his fight against his copper rivals. It is said that he is determined to dispose of his New York holdings and return to Montana. Developments yesterday consequent upon the collapse of the Heinz projected copper corner included an announcement that Otto Heinz & Co., at a meeting of creditors new Monday would offer a settlement in full of all claims which the firm considered "legal." These were said to include about $2,000,000, and did not include the claims of Gross & Kleberg. In the supreme court today an attachment was issued for $108,075 property of the state savings bank of Butte, Mont., in favor of the Mercantile trust company, which had a demand note of $150,000 made by the state savings bank on March 5. Conservative Wall street men last night expressed the opinion that the suit was only so far as serious results were concerned.

IN THE GUILDHALL JAIL

He Was Recently Implicated in the Poisoning Case and the Indictment Against Him Was Not Prossed.

Island Pond, Oct. 19.—Robert Waterman, who was implicated in the recent victory poisoning case and against whom an indictment was not prossed, attempted to kill himself this morning by cutting his throat with a jack-knife. He will probably recover. Last week Waterman pleaded guilty to obtaining goods under false pretenses and was to have been sentenced this morning. When the officers went to the jail to bring him into court he complained of not feeling well and they left him for a short time. When they returned to his cell they found him with his throat open.

HAVE TROUBLE
GETTING JURY

After the End of the Second Day Last Night the Court Didn't Have a Single Juror Settled On—Notorious Vermont Case.

Brattleboro, Oct. 19.—The second day of the trial of William Fairbanks, the woman slayer, which is being held at Newfane before the Windham county court, was marked with but little progress. Much activity was displayed, however, by both sides, but in spite of the anxiety of the state and that of the defense, little real advancement has been made. Last night not a juror had been accepted. Over 50 were examined Thursday and yesterday, and each in his turn has been examined or his examination halted as the session drew to a close. Of the new venire of 25 men summoned Thursday only two remained this morning. There are now 13 men in the box that have no conscientious scruples as to capital punishment, but these have not passed the searching questioning of the opposing counsel. The state has yet made but two peremptory challenges, the defense but one. It is likely that the entire day will be spent in trying to empanel the jury. It is certain that the case will not reach the point where witnesses will be put on the stand. Every effort is being put forth by Judge Gibson to prove the prisoner's insanity.

IMPROVEMENTS INTENDED.

To Be Made to Railroad Accommodations at Bennington.

Bennington, Oct. 19.—President C. S. Mellen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, and also head of the Berkshire system of electric railways, was in town with a party of friends over Thursday night. The trip from Great Barrington, Mass., to Bennington was made in a special tourist car. The 12 men, all residents of New Haven, composed a social organization known as the Friday Evening club, and it has been the custom of President Mellen to arrange an outing for the club each year. They registered at the Putnam House and a banquet was served in one of the small dining rooms. One of the plans of the Berkshire company is to build a large car barn and freight shed here before the opening of the next summer season and to make the village headquarters for the Bennington & North Adams and the Hoosac Valley lines.

Vice-President L. S. Storrs, who accompanied the president's party, stated that an express and baggage service over the Berkshire system is to be established at once.

Man Killed at St. Albans, Body Being Horribly Mangled—May Have Been Riding on Freight Train.

St. Albans, Oct. 19.—The mangled body of a man was found on the Central Vermont railway track three-quarters of a mile south of Oakland station yesterday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock. The body was lying on its back over by a train. The discovery was made by M. H. Vincent, assistant road master, and the identity of the man is not known. The body was cut nearly in two and the general theory is that it fell between the moving cars, or walked over the track. The selection of Georgia ordered the remains taken to undertaking rooms in this city where it will be until claimed by relatives or friends. The unfortunate was about 25 years old, and wore a dark suit and a cap. On his handkerchief was the name "James Feltner." They will go from Lancaster into the Maidstone Lake region.

A PLEASANT EVENING.

Was Observed by the East Barre W. C.
T. U. at South Barre.

East Barre, Oct. 19.—The regular meeting of the local W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Rev. A. N. Woodruff at South Barre Friday evening. It was observed as a golden jubilee, and between twenty and twenty-five members and invited friends attended. A programme was given, consisting of music by Mrs. Scott, singing, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," with Miss Nellie Woodruff at the piano; a recitation by Mrs. Atkins; a recitation by Miss Emma Conroy; a very fine report of the W. C. T. U. of state convention at Brandon was read by Mrs. Corlies, the delegate, closing with an instrumental selection by Miss Woodruff. This was followed by a social hour, during which games were played and refreshments of cake, coffee and ice cream were served, after which all took themselves homeward, having enjoyed a thoroughly pleasant evening and hoping for many more of like nature. The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church held an enjoyable happy supper in J. O. O. F. rooms last evening. The dining room was trimly decorated with autumn leaves and flowers. The members of the society with thanks to the Old Fellows for the use of their hall, and all who contributed to the success of the supper. Alex. Paton and family are intending to leave here for California very soon, having sold their place to the Barre Medium Quarry company. The regular quarterly meeting of Millstone lodge, No. 332, will be held Monday evening. It is hoped for a large attendance. Something new at R. J. Woodman's, a daughter weighing 10 pounds and comes to stay. Both mother and daughter are doing nicely. Congratulations. Daniel Haglan is here from Brandon visiting his parents for a short time. B. J. Davis had the misfortune to lose his horse last Wednesday. In backing up to the depot this horse caught a foot in the track in a manner to cause the entire load to be pulled off, necessitating his being shot at once. Miss Julia Haglan went to Burlington last Thursday morning to attend the Vermont State Teachers' association, in session there from Thursday to Saturday. Mrs. L. Coffin and daughter are visiting Mrs. George Taylor for a few days. Joe's Horse Has Uneasy Spell.

That horse of Joe Sanguinetti's was taken with another uneasy feeling this morning while attached to a delivery wagon on Granite street and ran up Granite street onto North Main, followed by one wildly galloping Italian and about 40 kids, all of whom were endeavoring to stop the flying steed. On making the turn into Seminary street the horse missed his calculation and fell down breaking the wagon somewhat.

GO INTO BUSINESS
ON THEIR OWN HOOK

Northfield Granite Cutters Out of Work
Form a Co-operative Scheme and Get Shed Room in The Ellis Plant.

A party of fourteen granite cutters and one blacksmith have started in business for themselves on the co-operative plan at Northfield and hope to get a living, with perhaps something besides, during the period of business depression there now. They have secured room in the Ellis shed No. 1, which is at present shut down because of lack of business, and are ready to take on work. When the Ellis shed is wanted by the owner they will vacate and turn over their uncompleted contracts to the Ellis company if arrangements are made with the company. The men, all but two of whom are Italians, have been working for Ellis and are hoping for a revival of business for that firm. Meanwhile they want some work, on which to live, as they are going into this co-operative scheme of granite cutting. Most of them have families and prefer not to leave Northfield.

ESCAPE FROM CELL.

Hermann, Locked in by Times Reporter,
Immediately Walked Out.

Prof. R. O. Hermann, who is called the world's greatest handcuff king and "jail breaker," and who is traveling with the "Train Robbers" theatrical company, which appears at the opera house tonight, made good his reputation this evening by letting himself out of one of the cells in the police station in less time than it takes to tell it. Hermann was searched thoroughly by a Times reporter for any keys or gimmicks in his clothing, and then locked up in the cell. Chief of Police Faulkner, who was on duty, witnessed the locking and then turned and went out into the adjoining room. By the time they had got out there and turned around, Hermann appeared with the lock opened in his hand. This is only one of the many stunts he performs, and at the opera house this evening he will exhibit his tricks with the handcuffs, and other mysterious performances. So long as he doesn't give away the combination to the city's strong box, it will be all right.

HAD TO BUILD TRACK
AROUND WRECK

Central Vermont Northbound Train Was Delayed Three Hours Today
While New Rails Were Being Laid.

First 'twas an hour later; then two and finally three hours. The trouble on the Central Vermont today was due chiefly to a freight wreck at West Hartford. A train of seven cars jumped the iron and tore things up badly. The track was ripped up a long distance, and the wreck crew had to build 150 feet of track around the pile before the north-bound passenger train could pass. The cars were loaded with flour and oats, and the vicinity looked like harvesting time.

HEART TO HEART TALK.

Mac and Alex. Had With a Canadian High Bailiff.

P. F. McCarthy, secretary-treasurer of the Quarry Workers' International union, and Alex. J. Cruikshank, president of the Vermont state branch, a F. of L. returned last evening from a trip to various points in Canada, where they have been on business for the past three days. The business which called them to Canada was the importation of 40 granite workers from Aberdeen, Scotland, who were hired by McCallister & Co. of Stanstead, P. Q., to act as strike breakers, the regular men in the plant having been out on strike for nearly a year. Mr. McCarthy thought that perhaps he could persuade the men not to go to work under the circumstances, but his appeals were unsuccessful. The trip was without its savor of excitement, and an incident took place which McCarthy and Cruikshank will remember. They had hired a horse and wagon and "Mac" was spellbinding from the wagon while the president held the horses; when upon a warning cry from some of the hired men, the horses were obliged to make a quick trip over the few rods of Canadian territory which separated them from the United States. This sudden departure became imperative because of the appearance of no less a personage than the high bailiff of the district, with all his majesty of the Canadian law at his back, and that law imposes a penalty for the work which Mac was doing, or attempting to do. They did not stop to discuss the fine points of the law until safe on Uncle Sam's territory, and then had a heart-to-heart talk with the bailiff.

Varnum, Jeffersonville, E. Holloway, Bridgeport, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Elwood, New York; R. Linas, Chicago. Miss Jessie Beattie has returned from Claremont, N. PAID FORFEIT
WITH BANQUETDid the Defeated Montpelier
Golf Club Team

ENTERTAINED BARRE MEN

Enjoyable Spread at the Northern Hotel
Last Night, With B. B. Bailey and James Mackay as Toastmasters.

"Colonel Bogie" got toasted again and again at the Northern hotel dining-room last night by the twenty-five players of the Barre and Montpelier golf clubs, who thus celebrated the close of the season. Generally their arch enemy, the Colonel had no terrors for them last night, and he was even voted a royal good fellow. The banquet was really a forfeit which the Montpelier club team paid the Barre team for being defeated three out of five matches during the past summer. There is a good-natured rivalry between the two clubs, but it is all drowned out at the close of the season at this annual get-together. So it was last night. The Montpelier men took their defeat gracefully and were very cheerful hosts.

Besides the two teams, there were enough more men present to bring the attendance up to 25, all of them enthusiastic golfers, even if they weren't good enough for the team. Jollity and good appetites reigned supreme, aided and abetted by the nice array of viands which Joe Sanguinetti set before them. Finally the toastmasters had to call a halt on the gastronomic feast, just to keep them from eating Joe out of house and home. Then the toast masters, of the "double umpire" system of golf, got busy. They were "Burn" Bailey of Montpelier and James Mackay of Barre. They first called on the club presidents, H. M. Cutler and James Reid. Then they called on anyone, wherever their eyes and fancy lighted, and before the talk-fest ended in draw they had called upon nearly everyone there. The most of them responded. Their subjects ranged anywhere from golf to the best way to handle a teething baby. Applause was liberally bestowed, and thankfully received. At the end they sang "Auld Lang Syne," and the Montpelier men took a special car for home, everybody having been thoroughly pleased.

The successful Barre team were as follows: Granger Alves, Richard Davis, Jack Daniels, Leonard Hutchinson, Frank D. Burgess, Frank B. Baigano, Alex. M. Milne, Donald Smith and "Alphabetical" Matthews. The near winners from Montpelier were Edward D. Field, Burnside B. Bailey, C. E. Lowe, George K. Putnam, Fred A. Howland, Joseph G. Brown, Harry M. Cutler, A. H. Heinemann and Richard Cutler.

TO BETTER QUARTERS.

The Wood Block on Main Street.

The business of Alex. Emalie & Co., florists, in this city has so increased that the present manager has found it necessary to move the business to more spacious quarters and the business, which has been run on Pearl street for the past three years, has been moved to the handsome new store in the addition which has recently been built on to the Woods block. The new salesroom is fitted with all of the conveniences necessary to the business of a first class florist and cut flower and floral designs for all purposes will be found there in profusion. This business was first started at the present site of the greenhouse between eight years ago and has steadily increased since the start. The business was started and originally owned by two brothers, Alex. and Charles Emalie. The original owners having died, its management has been for the past three years in the hands of George Emalie, who expects with the recently added facilities to do still more than the present amount of business.

EDWARD CANNING DEAD.

Well-Known Young Man of Montpelier
Passed Away Today.

Edward Canning, only son of James Canning of Montpelier, and well-known in this city, died at his home in the former place at one o'clock this morning, following a long illness with liver trouble. For a year and a half he had been unable to work. Prior to that he had been employed in Gillett's store.
